G H Patel College of Engineering & Technology organized an educational trip to Jeavio India Pvt. Ltd. at Baroda for 3rd year students pursuing a minor degree course in various domains of Computer Engineering in GCET as well as ADIT. 21 students along with 3 faculty members visited the Jeavio on above mentioned date.

Jeavio, a venture services startup turned into a commendable force in the industry, was founded to help entrepreneurs realize their vision. The company helps advise start-ups and growth companies on business and product development strategies, build high-quality products for early and growth stage companies by leveraging expert engineering teams and invest in product ideas in the form of cash and development services. Jeavio is headquartered at Boston, USA and have development centers in Vadodara & Pune in India. They leverage their expertise in building and scaling companies.

It allowed the students from various non-IT domains to get a better insight on how to amalgamate their respective fields with the emerging trends in the technological world.

Overall it was very informative and inspiring for all students. It made is glance into the infinite field of technologies as well as startup. Many of our doubts are cleared by the discussion with experts of the plant.

Conclusion:

- Working of fibre optic communication.
- Different types of intermediate devices were shown to support heterogeneous internet infrastructure.
- Overall it was a very interesting and informative experience and faculties of training centre were very helpful and made great efforts to get our fundamentals clear
- Entire visit was highly informative.
- Students learned many things about how software industry works and basics about backbone of entire internet infrastructure.
